Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 14 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Overnight showers for many, but largely dry in southern parts.

This Evening and Tonight:
This evening will see some isolated showers develop in northern areas, becoming more organised into the night, falling heavy at times. Remaining largely dry in southern parts, with rain approaching from the south in the early hours. Winds staying light. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Saturday:
A wet, cloudy start for many, with rain sweeping northwards across the region, but initially dry in northern parts. Frequent showers emerging throughout by afternoon, heavy at times, possibly thundery. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Remaining unsettled, with showers and sunny spells through this period. Sunday and Monday seeing the heaviest showers, with a risk of thunder. Driest on Tuesday, with more isolated showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.